

COVID-19 RELIEF

WSCAH serves 22,000 hungry New Yorkers every year, distributes 1.6 million pounds of healthy food, and connects people to essential benefits for themselves and their families. During this time of crisis, with the closure of many businesses, we know the amount of New Yorkers who need access to healthy food and supportive services for their families will increase exponentially over the coming weeks. WSCAH will need extra financial support to adjust our food and social services distribution model to be safe and available for all. We know that we will be spending at least $15,000 more a week on increased amounts of shelf stable foods, transportation, and new operational supplies, such as new distribution tools, safety equipment, and technology.
