DIGNITY, COMMUNITY, AND CHOICE IN ACTION

Joan has been a member of the WSCAH community for more than two years. Before the pandemic, as an ESL teacher with sporadic work, she began to count on WSCAH to tide her over. In 2020, when COVID struck and NYC libraries closed, she lost her teaching job altogether. WSCAH's distribution became more essential than ever.

“It’s been a huge relief getting food from WSCAH. The food not only lasts for weeks - pastas, bread, grains - but there’s also really good fresh fruits and vegetables that make me very happy and feed me well.”

Wanting to give back to the community in any way she could, Joan decided to donate her time and has been a WSCAH volunteer for over a year. Joan has now become an integral part of the WSCAH fabric interacting with customers, other volunteers, and staff.
